The information provided herein is intended for informational purposes only and should not be construed as legal advice, relied upon nor as establishing a professional or contractual relationship with any participants. The actions carried out by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), its contractors, and support staff during Maui and/or SoCal Wildfire Responses were based solely on the knowledge, data, and information available at the time. It is important to note that, during these responses, the behavior of lithium-ion batteries in wildfire scenarios was not fully understood, and any interpretations or conclusions drawn from subsequent analysis may differ from those applied at the time.

The EPA, its contractors, and support staff acknowledge that lessons learned from past responses, emergent data, and evolving regulatory frameworks may inform future actions and decisions related to disaster response efforts. As such, individuals and entities are advised to consult other relevant sources and experts for current information and guidance regarding environmental safety and emergency response protocols. The EPA and presenters of these Case Studies disclaim any liability for actions taken or decisions made based on the information provided herein.
